PRESIDENT OUTLINES U. S. ATTITUDE
Given an ovation in Ottawa, Ontario, Canada, and speaking before the Canadian Parliament, June 11, President Truman said: "We intend to aid those who seek to live in peace, without coercion or being coerced, without intimidation or being intimidated. We seek a peaceful world, a prosperous world, a free world, a world of good neighbors, living on terms of equality and mutual respect, as Canada and the United States have lived for generations. . . . We intend to support those who are determined to govern themselves in their own way, and who honor the rights of others to do likewise."
He asked that the St. Lawrence River waterway project be completed.
Prime Minister McKenzie King, who introduced him, expressed appreciation for the difficulties a United States President has with a recalcitrant or opposing Congress. He said he had had similar difficulties, but "it may serve as a note of encouragement to you when I say, I have yet to find that such embarrassments are necessarily a bar to many years of office."

MATLICK'S APPOINTMENT HAILED
The Jeffersonian wholeheartedly approves the appointment of J. O. ("Jack") Matlick, as full-time manager of the Kentucky State Fair. Jack is known and respected by all. He has proved himself in more ways than one. In fact, in many. He comes from the soil—he is a farmer himself—knows the needs of agriculture in this state and has the other things that go with it: poise, personality and perception. He is quick to grasp any problem and cool-headed to find an answer. He analyzes carefully, but acts promptly. His conscience is his guide. Jack is friendly, always has been, and is always ready to help any worthy endeavor. He has the courage of his convictions and is not afraid to speak out after reaching a decision. He wants to build a better Kentucky, agriculturally, industrially, in every other way. He is a promoter. He has, loves his fellow man, on all occasions, at all times, and sincere. In every undertaking, he gives the best that is in him. The Jeffersonian believes Mr. Matlick will make an exceptional and (with cooperation) a successful Kentucky State Fair manager.

WATERFIELD PLAIN SPEAKER
Our good friend Harry Lee Waterfield got up to a good start last Saturday at Murray. He made a good speech and presented a good program and, apparently, made a good impression.
Waterfield, whom we have known for a number of years to be a high-type gentleman, got right down to "brass tacks" by speaking, as he said, "in plain terms." He spoke specifically on such issues as rural electrification, public education, taxes, public health, etc. His speech was so plain and so direct, it was clear, indicating that he has his mind definitely set on a program which he regards as sound and worthy of his best efforts to execute.
Since Waterfield's speech as a public official began to rise, and his chances for advancement to higher posts of public responsibility became more and more promising, we have observed the man carefully. He appears to a type of public service which should be above reproach. He seems to have no pretensions and the courage to carry them out.
When Democratic voters go to the polls to vote in the August primary they will have had the privilege of knowing the course Waterfield intends to take, should he become their chief executive at Frankfort. Coming from an honest man, his declarations should be dependable.

Newburg News
By Mrs. J. H. Shively
Father's Day was observed Sunday at Newburg with a brief program led by Mr. O. J. Stivers. Mr. Neal Kaufman, the youngest father present, presented Mr. W. O. Lilly, the oldest father present, with a Bible after which Mr. Lilly made a very impressive speech of gratitude and thankfulness to the Lord for his long life. Then Mr. Stivers presented the youngest father, Mr. Neil Kaufman, with a gift. These gifts were from the Adult Class. Following this service, Rev. Paul James of St. Matthews filled pulpits and delivered a good sermon taken from the thirteenth chapter of Hebrews. His subject was "The Hitting Post." Small crowd of Superintendent, teachers and everybody get busy and let's bring our crowd up to what it was when we had a preacher. There is talk of new song books at Newburg, which is fine, but let's sing the old songs every Sunday. Folks like to hear a new one now and then.
Good reports from the sick folks Mary Kaiser will soon be back at Sunday School.
Mrs. Edw. Hindle and Mrs. E. B. Martin were guests of Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Shively Monday afternoon, and George, Kenneth and Billy Nebbett were over from Friday afternoon to get berries.
Mrs. David Schwartz and Marilyn Schwartz and Donnie Montgomeri were brief visitors of Mrs. Shively Thursday evening. Mrs. Schwartz had the proofs of all her wedding party pictures, and only were beautiful.
So sorry to hear of the illness of Mr. Hugh Boyd Standford. We missed Mrs. Stivers at Sunday School and church and glad to see Mr. C. Ray Freck.
Mrs. J. H. Shively attended a missionary meeting at the Campbell Taylor Church of Christ Wednesday. She was guest of Mrs. Bennett.
Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Jones left Thursday for Macon, Ga., to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Price and family. On their return Mrs. Price and children will accompany them home. During their stay Mrs. C. R. Hart had been with her daughter near Bowman Field.
Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sutherland were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Cook and Mrs. Shively Tuesday night.
Mr. T. K. Stallard visited Thursday. He represents the McCune products.

This award was given in appreciation for her outstanding accomplishments during her four years at DeVilbiss High School.
Mrs. Lilly brings back greetings from the entire Parcell family to those of our community. Mrs. Shively sends congratulations to Bonnie Jean, and only wish the Parcells could help us in our churchwork, as Mr. Parcell is a natural-born leader of the young people.

SILVER WEDDING PARTY
To the Jeffersonian:
Mrs. J. L. Jones and Elaine Jones Hall of Chicago gave a small silver wedding anniversary party for Mr. and Mrs. Milton E. Tyler. The old-fashioned home was softly lighted with candlelight.
A dove extended from an heirloom silver ceiling fan and pink-ribbon streamers fastened to the corners of the ceiling. The room was filled with the white, angelic white cake and punch.
Mrs. Tyler was formerly Lily-Jones, a beautiful young woman, and talented pianist. She devoted her talent to sacred and classical music.
This young Christian wife has endured a long suffering illness with patience and grace. Friends wish this couple many more happy years together and pray and hope there will be an early recovery for this lovely Chatsaline.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

WHY NOMINATE CLEMENTS?
By Earle C. Clements
(Congressman Clements, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Kentucky in the August Primary has been asked to be this week's guest columnist writer.)
You have asked me to write something of a biographical sketch of myself and to outline my views in regard to public affairs in Kentucky.
My father was a farmer, and I studied agriculture at the University of Kentucky with the idea of pursuing farming as a vocation. Many of my happiest associations were my college days at the University of Kentucky where I played on the football team for two years. Like nearly all the generation of young men in college in those days, we were called to the front World War I, enlisted as a private in a company made up of boys from Barbourville, and formed with other sons of farmers and mechanics who have stayed throughout my life.
I served as sheriff of Union County and later as county clerk. After that I ran for county judge. This is not as lucrative an office as county clerk, but I was sincerely interested in the business affairs of my home county and in its finances and rural road program.
One of the reasons that I have become interested in seeking the office of Governor of Kentucky is because there are so many problems now pending that are related, either to county government or the same type of services with which the fiscal court must deal upon a local scale. Later, I served as Democratic floor leader in the State Senate and as a member of Congress.
In Washington at the present time there is pending a party battle that may determine the future policies of the United States. The farmers of the United States have profited very greatly from the free agricultural program of the past decade and a half. This program is now being threatened. In the last few days the real issues of the R.E.A. came before the Congress of the United States. This was over the proposal to reduce the appropriations for the continuation of the R.E.A. I made a protest against the reductions proposed by the Republican majority in Congress. This is the real fight over the R.E.A. now.
You may ask, "What has the Government of Kentucky to do with the legislative policies of the Congress?" Unless a Governor brings together the heretofore discordant elements of the Dem-deserved pay increases for the willingness of this state to support the agricultural program in Congress effectively may be thwarted by a party machine. Frankfort. Furthermore, Kentucky has many problems which challenge the best efforts of all her citizens. Schools must be kept open and the deplorable exodus of teachers from their professions and to other states must be stopped by salary increases.

The most urgent need today is to bring new taxable wealth into Kentucky. New industries will do that. Every present taxpayer will benefit. The farmers of my own district know that I have always been interested in the farmers' problems and have aided in every move for the advancement of agriculture.
I believe in, and will continue to encourage, the wider use of electric power throughout the state. I have supported every real appropriation as a member of Congress, and in 1942 in the Kentucky Legislature, I voted for the T.V.A. bill that is now on the statute of our state. Our farm and industrial improvement programs will require all of the power available from whatever source.
The present crisis in education is tragic and deplorable. In a statement in Louisville recently, I said that unless a special session of the Legislature is called there can be no relief for education for the fiscal year that begins July 1. I said that as Governor I will ask the General Assembly appropriation to increase teachers' salaries for the school term beginning in September, 1947. This is the only way that Kentucky schoolteachers will receive the

THE TRAGIC END OF A NATION
LESSON TEXT—II Kings 21:1-22
MEMORY SELECTION—Isaiah 1:10
Introduction: A nation, but not a people—Proverbs 14:34.
The end of the road! Down, down, down went Judah in its sinful refusal to heed the final day of reckoning. It always does. The catastrophe which had long been brewing had arrived at last.
The fall of a capital city, which carries with it the empire, is a shocking event. The fall of Rome shattered the world for a thousand years. The fall of Berlin and Tokyo are within the memory of all of us, and the results are seen in a disordered world.
The destruction of Jerusalem, which our lesson presents, was even more serious; for it was not only a national tragedy, but also one with deep religious significance.
The wicked king Zedekiah was succeeded by his son Jehoiachin, a mere boy who reigned only three months. He gave way to Nebuchadnezzar, who appointed as his successor his uncle Zedekiah.
It is in the verses just preceding our lesson that we learn that Zedekiah turned against Babylon in an act of rebellion (v. 1).
Zedekiah ignored his oath of allegiance (II Chron. 36:13), for which he was condemned by Ezekiel as a traitor (Ezek. 17:13-18). Zedekiah has well been called the vanishing point in a diminishing line of kings. It was an evil thing he did (II Kings 24:19), and one which showed his contempt, vanity and rashness.
True it was that he only followed what he had learned from his predecessors, but that is never a good excuse for a man foolishly to turn against God's will.
Observe that God was not yet a disinterested spectator, and yet he had come to the place where he let Judah go down to its only awful doom. The worst thing that can happen to a man or a nation is to be let alone by God.
Zedekiah's act of folly quickly brought
II. Retribution (vv. 2-10).
A Jeremiah urged Zedekiah to surrender (Jer. 37, 38) in order to save Jerusalem and himself, but he refused, and the city was besieged. The king's refusal to hear God's prophet and his turning to Egypt for help speak to us of the manner in which unrepentant sinners reject God's mercy and then seek help at the hopeless customs of this world (Jer. 2:13).
The king tried to flee, but was taken captive. Then came the siege of Jerusalem. For one and one-half years the enemy gradually closed in while famine and distress grew apace in the city. Jeremiah went through this entire period sharing in the sufferings of the people. The book of Lamentations is the record of this eyewitness.
Does it seem terrible now. Even as it can take a great city and turn it into a plague spot marked by ruin, suffering and death, it can do so to bring forth its inevitable and unrepeatable results in the life of the individual who persists in resisting the voice of God.
Note also that the sin of Zedekiah brought quick judgment, not only on himself, but upon his innocent children (v. 7), and on many in the besieged city who were equally guilty of wrongdoing. It is again a picture of what sin does today in the homes and communities of our nation.
III. Removal (vv. 11, 12).
The fall of Jerusalem prepared the way for the closing scene of the immediate history of the nation as the people went into captivity. It also ended for the time being the history of the city that had once so proudly held a position of rebellion and power, but was now brought down by its sin and rebellion against God.
We say rightly that history repeats itself. We see that any nation that lifts itself up in pride and forgets God will inevitably perish. We ask ourselves where our beloved country stands. As we consider its debauchery and drunkenness, its disregard of moral standards, its indifference to the things of God, we feel that instead of pointing a finger of scorn at Judah, we ought to be on our knees before God in penitence and shame.
Let us not assume that we hold a place of safety for everything we do. Judgment is upon the certainty of ultimate blessing to them have never been withdrawn. But their sin brought certain judgment, and the same is true today for the nation but of the individual.
The Sunday school lesson will take up the history of Israel again at this point in April, 1948, when we return the captivity and partial reform of the people to their land.

is a real demand of the business that they should meet this demand by offering a candidate who would properly look after, serve and protect the interests of the shipping and the vast business income a candidate for Railroad Commissioner, believing that his record in the corporation department of the Secretary of State's office for four years, and with the legal department of the United States Government civil service qualifies him for this position. He

Prospect For Commercial
Potatoes Below Average

Prospective production of early commercial potatoes for summer harvest in Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Texas Panhandle, North Georgia and New Jersey is estimated at 14,415,000 bushels. This quantity is considerably smaller than the 27,651,000 bushels harvested in 1946 and 9 per cent below average. Each of these states, except Kentucky, has a smaller acreage for harvest than the acreage in 1946. Only in Nebraska and Texas is the acreage for harvest above average.

D.D.T. Protects Garden
From All But 4 Insects

These are the common insects for which some other insecticide than D.D.T. should be used by the amateur: 1, Mexican bean beetle; 2, tomato horn worm; 3, Colorado potato beetle; 4, cucumber beetle.

There is small excuse for any home gardener to complain about insect injury to his vegetable garden since D.D.T. became available. By dusting every week or two with D.D.T. at least 3% strength, insect injury can be prevented except in the following cases: Mexican bean beetles, tomato horn worms, and most aphids are immune to D.D.T. Cucumbers, melons and squash may be injured by D.D.T. but it is advisable to use other means to kill the cucumber beetle, which attacks all these, and squash bugs and borers, which concentrate on squash plants. To take care of these exceptions, rotenone will serve. It destroys the Mexican bean beetle, and is deadly to aphids, while even less toxic than D.D.T. to animals. Some gardeners may prefer to use nicotine sulfate against aphids and some form of arsenic against the cucumber beetle, which is a particularly difficult pest. While highly poisonous, these older insecticides have been used safely for many years, by many millions of gardeners, and with the usual precautions may still be used. But the gardener equipped with D.D.T. and rotenone, with suitable equipment for either dusting or spraying his crops when they are after war hiding and there are some unique and desirable self-propelled inventions and new insecticides.

Use of the chemical weed killer, 2,4-D, on lawns has now become a standard practice. Since it has been demonstrated that it will destroy crab grass, as well as dandelions, dock and practically all other lawn weeds, those who use it to use it will definitely behind the procession.

But those who use it will not find all lawn troubles solved thereby. Insects in many lawns weeds constitute one-half or more of the green growth, when they are killed the grass will have a patchy look with many bare spaces. And since 2,4-D will inhibit the germination of grass seed, the usual method of repairing bare spaces by seeding should not be followed.

To fill in the bare spaces it is necessary to force the existing grass, so it will spread rapidly to make a thick turf. This is not done by the use of special preparations. If dry fertilizer is used, it should be spread evenly on a dry lawn, never on a damp one and immediately washed off the grass leaves and down to the surface with the hose.

Not Too Late To Plant Early Corn

Early hybrid corns, such as U. S. 13, can be planted in Kentucky as early as June 10. The University of Kentucky Experiment Station, in reply to farmers' inquiries, says that the best corn in an account of wet weather.

For silage, No. 103 hybrid corn or other early hybrids will still make good yields. Soybeans can be planted as late as July 1, using Lincoln, Illinois or other early varieties for seed, and Kingway for hay. Sudan grass can be sowed as late as July 1.

CATTLE BRING HIGH PRICES IN CHICAGO

Cattle prices at recent weeks high prices in Chicago Wednesday, June 11. The $30 hundred-weight steer reappeared in spite of the fact that reported retail sales in many parts of the country have fallen off, resulting from buyer resistance and warm weather.

Chicago butchers complaining, declared that "the market" prices they have to pay, wholesale prices have advanced from 8 to 10 cents a pound. If they can't resell promptly, the butchers said they were ready to "take a vacation."

Meat inspection figures released from Washington showed 317,000,000 pounds, a 46 per cent increase over the same period of the year. The highest steer price of the year was $35 a hundred, January—low top level, $25, two months ago.

Morton Supports Final Draft Labor Measure and stressed protection of the rights of the individual laborer. The bill prohibits the closed shop, permits union shops, bans jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycott, indirectly bans featherbedding, makes unions liable for damages, permits the Government to enjoin strikes which menace public health and welfare, creates a Federal mediation and conciliation service independent of the Labor Department, reforms the NLRB, and prohibits excessive initiation fees by labor organizations.

Pointing out that it was the most thoroughly debated measure passed this session, Congressional spokesmen declared, "It is a moderate bill. It is fair to both labor and management, but above all, it protects the public interest."

In the Senate, the conference report was approved by Senator John Sherman Cooper (R). Senator Alben Barkley (D) opposed it.

'Motor Memories' of Henry Ford

The warmth of 50 years' friendly association with this illustrious neglected monarch of Henry Ford and Eugene W. Lewis (right) Detroit banker-attorney, taken at Richmond Hill, the Ford Georgia plantation. It appears in print in "Motor Memories" (Alfred, of Detroit, Inc.) Mr. Lewis' new book about automotive pleasures he knew so well. The reviewer and skit are of Mrs. Ford, "The Believer," who was constantly at his side, "even unto the death" of Henry Ford April 7 at the age of 55 years.

NEW STANDARD OF LIFE IS HIGHLY RECOMMENDED
E. W. Sprague, Memphis, speaking as past national president of Exchange Club, told delegates to a State convention that there is a greater life today for service clubs than ever before to teach Americanism and guide the hearts and minds of men. We must find a way to get along with the world, he said.

He advocated "a standard of life, rather than a standard of living," and called for the elimination of "selfishness and intolerance" throughout the world.
